

DP April

Susan would like her treatment team to know she is a mother of two and special education teacher when able to work. Susan has a passion for spirituality, often expresses this interest through yoga, and is interested in other holistic approaches to healing. Susan appreciates when members of her team take the time to share who they and their role in helping her. One worry Susan is currently trying to cope with is that her 90-year-old mother is in Florida and she wishes she could support her in a greater capacity. Susan is also worried about how her cancer diagnosis is impacting her children.
