

SEJUL

She had lived longer than the doctors expected, 5 years ago they told her that she will live max 6 months, but she is still alive. She always feeling pain as side effects from the chemotherapy. She is a single mother who live with her 20 years daughter and old mother that she must take care of.

It is important for her not to be a burden to others, she wants to stay at home and take care of herself. She is very religious and believe that she is in hand of God, and she do not want to talk about death. She goes to Church often in every week.

She is teacher for children with special needs, and her job is very important for her even though she have not been able to work last years. She held a good relationship to her colleagues.
